

St. Matthew's Ev. Lutheran Church
Wedding Booklet

We wish your wedding to be a memorable and joyful event, filled with God's blessings and the blessing of family and friends. God Bless You in this new beginning.

The Pastors and Staff of St. Matthew's

Congratulations . . . We Rejoice with You

Since you are about to make one of the most important decisions of your life, we say with shared excitement and joy, “Congratulations!” Because it is such an important step, we, as representatives of the believing Christian community, want to help with your preparations and plans. This means that we will require certain things from you. Most important of all is that we get to know who you are so that the celebration of your marriage can be as meaningful as we can make it. You will meet with one of our pastors for conversation and planning. Together we will shape a service that reflects your needs as well as the Christian context in which it takes place. Careful consideration will be given to selections of music, scripture, readings, vows and other components of the worship time together. We want to assist you in this new beginning!

Meeting with the Pastor

In selecting a date, call the church office to check the availability of the church sanctuary. The first party to select a particular date has the first preference for time of the service. Please note that no weddings will be scheduled for Holy Week, the week before Easter each year.

You must meet with one of the pastors to confirm the wedding date. You will meet again with the pastor two months prior to the wedding to discuss some matters as to your relationship, faith, expectations, and feelings about marriage.

During the session with the pastor, you will also discuss the plans for the wedding, the service of worship, the fees and expectations. The pastor will work closely with members to facilitate wedding plans. Participation in weddings of non-members is at the discretion of the pastors.

Pastors reserve the right to cancel or postpone a wedding if they feel the couple to be married is not ready.

Wedding To-Do Lists and Schedules

6 months before the Wedding date:

Arrange a time to come to church and take the Pre-Marriage Inventory Exam. It takes approximately 1 hour to complete. There is a $35 cost to have it scored, and it takes two weeks to be scored and returned to us. Please make check payable to St. Matthew's Lutheran Church; online payments available in some cases.

5 months before the Wedding date:

After the results of the Pre-Marriage Inventory are returned to St. Matthew's, schedule a time to meet with Lee Beitzel who is acting as St. Matthew's Pre-Marriage Counselor. He can be reached at (414) 899-9947. He meets with you for about an hour. The cost is $100 for his time, paid directly to him.

3 months before the Wedding date:

Schedule an appointment to meet with John Paradowski, our organist, unless other musical arrangements have been approved by the pastor. He can be reached at St. Matthew's at (414) 774-0441 or at JRPmuzik@sbcglobal.net. Please come to this meeting prepared to share what music you would like to have in your ceremony. Please listen to the organ wedding music selections found on our website or our Soundcloud site prior to this meeting. See Music Selection pages further in this booklet to help with this planning.

2 months before the Wedding date:

Schedule a time to meet with the pastor performing the ceremony. This meeting should be scheduled during normal business hours of 9:00am –5:00pm according to pastors' availability. This is a 60-minute session where the details of the wedding service will be discussed.

2 weeks before the Wedding date:

Give the pastor a copy of the Wedding Bulletin for a final review and approval. This can be dropped in the church office or e-mailed to office@stmattslutheran.org.

Usually the Evening before the Wedding date:

Have a Wedding Rehearsal with family and friends led by the pastor. The couple may meet privately with the Pastor thirty minutes before the rehearsal in order to go over details one more time. The typical rehearsal lasts about one hour.

The Wedding Service of Worship

For most services the wedding service structure in the Evangelical Lutheran Worship (ELW) on page 286 is followed. From there we can expand on the service. The wedding worship service involves the whole congregation, who will also promise to support you. Together we ask God's blessings, not just on your wedding, but also throughout your life together, that you would share in God's goodness and love. It is a celebration with God and the gathered Christian community.

The dignity of the sanctuary and the religious significance of the service should be reflected in the music used. We are open to adding appropriate parts to the service that are especially meaningful to the couple and the gathered people in the context of the worship service.

We are also open to couples writing portions of the service and liturgy and for the family and friends to participate in reading lessons, poems or making statements. This is a helpful way to involve family in your wedding. Please, look for ways to involve family members, including carrying out family traditions, a family blessing, parents reading the lessons, presentation of flowers to parents, etc.

Many suggestions for the service can be discussed when meeting with the pastor. This includes the entrance of the wedding party, lighting a unity candle, where to receive people, and special ways to involve the congregation.

To offer assistance in your planning, a general wedding order of service can be seen on the following pages. Please note that this is to serve as a guideline, and that there are many ways to alter this order of service to personalize it for you and your wedding party.

Selection of Music

The dignity of the sanctuary and the religious significance of the service should be reflected in the music used for your wedding. The music and texts should be selected with the underlying thought of glorifying God and should be suitable for a church service. Therefore, the couple's "favorite" popular song is most appropriately shared at the reception.

A wedding is a communal celebration, and the guests are there as worshippers. They should be drawn into active participation through prayers and song. One of the best ways to involve the assembly is through the singing of a hymn. We recommend the use of a hymn during the ceremony. All music is to be presented live. No pre-recorded music will be allowed.

Prelude Music: The prelude music is performed to greet the arrival of your guests and begins 15-20 minutes before the start of the processional. The organist/pianist will play a set of prelude music representing a variety of styles.

Processional: The processional music accompanies the entry of the wedding party. You may select one processional for all, or multiple pieces for the family, the attendants, and for the couple.

Hymn: You may select a hymn to be sung at your wedding. The hymn should be familiar as your guests most likely come from a variety of denominations. Everyone should feel comfortable as a participant in the wedding ceremony.

Solos: You may select one or two solos to be sung during the wedding liturgy. Solo pieces would need to be selected with the soloist and music given to the accompanist no later than 3 weeks prior to the wedding.

Recessional: The recessional music is played as the wedding party walks out of the sanctuary at the ceremony's conclusion. You may want more than one selection depending on the number in your wedding party and the number in attendance.

Wedding Music Selection

Listed on the following page are titles of wedding organ music selections. You can also find samples of each piece on our website, Stmattslutheran.org (Worship & Music – Weddings & Funerals – Wedding Organ Music Samples) or directly at <https://soundcloud.com/st-matthews-music>.

You will hear only part of most pieces, just to give you a feel for the piece. You may wish to listen to all of the pieces to get as many different ideas as possible. Many of the organ selections can serve as a processional or recessional; the choice is yours. While this site offers many different choices of music for your wedding, it does not include every piece that can be used. It is offered to give you some ideas.

Wedding Consultation:

After you have listened to the wedding selections from St. Matthew's Soundcloud account, you should meet with the organist/pianist to work out details and go over your ideas. Arrangements can also be made for soloists and rehearsals at that time.

Additional Musicians:

You may choose to have additional musicians perform at your wedding. For example, you may choose violin, flute, trumpet, vocalists, string ensemble, or other instrumentalists. Information for these additional musicians need to be communicated to the organist/pianist.

Payment of Fees to Additional Musicians:

Fees and payment procedures for engaging additional vocalists and/or instrumentalist(s) for your wedding ceremony will be handled by the wedding couple directly with the extra musicians. Payment in full must be prior to the wedding ceremony.
